

The South Dakota Arts Council makes quality arts accessible throughout the state by providing grants to South Dakota nonprofit organizations and South Dakota artists with funding from the National Endowment for the Arts and the State of South Dakota.

The upcoming grant cycle supports activities, events, programs, or projects planned to take place July 1, 2023 – June 30, 2024. This document covers eligibility requirements and scoring criteria for upcoming grant opportunities.

DEADLINE: March 1, 2023, at 11:59 pm Central. Late applications will not be accepted.

Program Description

Traditional Arts Apprenticeship Grants support master artists committed to teaching South Dakota's traditional arts and cultures to qualified apprentices. Grants up to $5,000 support the continuation of time-honored skills that are vital to strengthening cultural communities across the state.

The master and student artist(s) apply together. The grant provides funding for multiple teaching sessions (long-term), with the bulk of funds paying for the master's time ($3,500-$4,000), and the remainder paying for the student's expenses for tools, supplies and travel ($1,000-$1,500).

DEFINITIONS:

Traditional Arts (or Folk Arts): The artistic practices that have endured through several generations and reflect a cultural community's history, heritage, or values. The skills are usually learned informally and passed on from one generation to the next by observation and imitation rather than through academic or formal means. Traditional arts are contemporary and change to reflect current events, values, and the artists' aesthetic. A few examples include Lakota games and powwow regalia, Mexican American mariachi music and ballet folklórico dance, Scandinavian weaving, Black Hills woodcarving, Hutterite crocheted rugs, family quilts, old-time fiddle tunes, and Ethiopian embroidery and drumming, and more.

Examples that are not traditional include: the work of professional teachers or contemporary studio craftworkers, recreations of antiques or past traditions like mountain man crafts, artists not supported by a cultural community, or contemporary interpretations of traditional art forms (for instance, a theater artist who wants to create a performance based on traditional story).

Cultural Community: A distinct group of people that share a history, a geographic location, life experiences, common values, artistic practices, and traditions. Typical communities are ethnic, tribal, occupational, regional, or religious, but also include family and communities of practice rooted in tradition. The master artist and the apprentice must come from the same or related cultural community.

Apprenticeship: A time-honored system by which skills, techniques, values, and artistry are learned under the guidance of a recognized master. An apprenticeship is different from private lessons and should include cultural and historical information related to the cultural group.

Master Artist: Someone who is recognized by his or her community and peers as an exemplary practitioner of a traditional art form.

Apprentice: Someone who learns under the guidance of a master artist. Prospective apprentices should have some prior experience in the traditional art form they wish to learn and have a serious long-term commitment to the continuity of the art form and its community.

Panels consists of in-state and out-of-state professionals, with knowledge and experience in traditional arts, and are facilitated by an Arts Council Board and SDAC staff member. Service on panels is limited to two years.

SDAC staff submits funding recommendations from grant review panels to Arts Council board members for consideration and to facilitate final funding decisions.

The SDAC reports the names of panelists and grantees in our Annual Report to the Legislature. After notification, any applicant may ask SDAC staff for a summary of the panel's comments.

The SDAC is looking for individuals with experience and/or expertise in the arts to serve as panelists. Please, fill out the nomination form online [linked here] or contact SDAC staff if you are interested.

Review Criteria

Grant review panels evaluate applications and assign points based on the artistic merit and artistic excellence of each proposal. Project Grants carry a maximum of 90 points.

ARTISTIC EXCELLENCE (50 points (Master Artist)/10 points (Apprentice(s)))

Artistic merit is evaluated based on:

- Proposed work is relevant to the master artist, apprentice, and shared community.
